University Spokesman Says Campus Buildings Accessible

Responding to the expressed concern of several citizens, including parents of students attending Murray State University, with respect to recent charges that the closing of 15th Street will result in inadequate police and fire protection for the campus, the following statement was released today by M. C. Garrett, director of information and public services at the university.

"The University has made a conscientious effort to insure emergency vehicle access to all buildings. University officials, including Flavil Robertson, who served as chief of the Murray Fire Department for 19 years, periodically review emergency vehicle access routes.

"Furthermore, all campus construction plans are reviewed by architects and engineers from the Kentucky Department of Finance and Administration. That department will not approve any campus construction unless provisions are made for adequate emergency vehicle access.

"Presently all campus buildings and fire hydrants are accessible to fire control vehicles, and will continue to be accessible. All buildings along 15th Street have two separate access points as illustrated in the campus drawing. The closing of 15th Street has not changed that fact.

"In addition, 15th Street between Olive and Payne is still accessible to emergency vehicles. Whenever streets are closed by construction gates, keys to the padlocks on those gates are routinely delivered to the city fire and police departments. Keys to the padlocks on the Waterfield Library construction gates have been in the hands of the City Police and Fire departments since last November.

"An additional question has been raised as to the sufficiency of fire hydrants to serve campus buildings. If additional hydrants are needed, the University will gladly cooperate with the city since the installation of additional fire hydrants is a responsibility of the Murray Water and Sewer System. It should be noted, however, that closing 15th Street will not change the number of fire hydrants on campus.

"The University and the city police departments have worked closely together, each providing a back-up force for the other. That cooperation was evident during a recent burglary at a drugstore near the campus when University security officers assisted in the investigation, actually being the first security officers to arrive at the scene.

"During evening hours the University with its security officers and student Racer Patrol actually has more officers on duty than does the city. "While the University has made every reasonable effort to provide adequate emergency vehicle access to all parts of the campus — and this task is more difficult during construction activity — suggestions for improvement are always welcome.

"The best way for those suggestions to be made is through consultations, not through public charges that wrongly raise the concern of parents for the safety of their children, and which have the consequent possibility of adversely affecting the University."

Out-Of-State Tuition Break At MSU To Get Second Look

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The staff of the state Council on Higher Education will take another look at the council's earlier decision to give some out-of-state students a tuition break at Murray State University.

Last April, the council approved a waiver of out-of-state fees for students from 24 counties in Illinois, Indiana and Missouri, all within 120 miles of Murray, in a move to help the university pay off bonds sold to build campus housing.

But Harry Snyder, council executive director, said Wednesday after meeting with members of the Joint Interim Committee on Education that he wants to make sure MSU has "done everything in its power" to increase occupancy of its residence halls.

He said he wants to know, for example, if all out-of-state students admitted this fall under the tuition waiver program have been required to live in the MSU dormitories, and whether the housing policy is strict enough.

Snyder said he expects to have figures by next week on the number of out-of-state students enrolled at MSU and whether they are living in the school's residence halls.

Murray State lost 40 per cent of its out-of-state students from 1967 to 1975, as tuition increased, forcing the university to subsidize dormitories and dining halls by about $365,000 a year, Snyder said.

He said 600 beds are vacant in MSU residence halls, the result of overbuilding in the 1960's. Even this year's tuition waiver probably will not fill all those beds, Snyder told the committee. He said the tuition waiver is experimental.

"We don't intend for it to last forever, just to pay off the mortgage," he said. "The only alternative is for the state to pay it from the general fund."

However, several committee members expressed concern that the tuition break for out-of-state students was not a real solution.

Rep. Hoover Dawahare, D-Whitesburg, suggested that the

Bagley Conducts Program At Guild

Ralph Bagley of Winter Park, Fla., conducted a special lecture-demonstration program at the Murray Art Guild on Wednesday, September 7, from one to four p. m. He has been sought after for many years for this type of program, and has a rich experience as teacher, painter, and critic, as well as conductor of numerous workshops over several states.

The artist will conduct the lecture-demonstration program at the Hopkinsville Art Guild on Saturday, September 10, from 10:00 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

Monday, September 12, Bagley will present the program at the Mayfield Art Guild from 4:00 to 7:00 p. m.

His schedule on Tuesday, September 13, will be from 9:00 a. m. to twelve noon at the Lakeland Parish near Benton.

These series of lecture-demonstrations are sponsored by the Murray Art Guild in cooperation with the Kentucky Guild Arts Commission. Persons interested in attempting the programs may contact Mrs. Hoyt Roberts or Mrs. Clell Peterson of the Murray Art Guild.

Three Persons Arrested In Recent Break-In

Three Calloway Countians have been arrested in connection with an early August break-in at a home owned by May Ramsey on the Vancleave Road in the county.

Arrested Wednesday afternoon by Calloway County Sheriff's Department officers were Sandra Sue Wilson, Ricky Lane Parrish and Melissa Butler, according to officials.

The three were charged with burglary in the third degree the county official said. All were released after posting a bond of $500.

The official said that most of the property taken in the break-in had been recovered.

Refuse Pickup Rules Explained By Wallace

"The City of Murray Sanitation Department is making a determined effort to remove unsightly rubbish, trash, etc., from the city limits," Sanitation Department Superintendent Jerry Wallace said today.

Wallace made the statement in connection with a request that local citizens cooperate with the department in abiding by the rules and regulations governing trash and garbage pickup by the Sanitation Department.

Wallace also reminded local residents and business firms that beginning Oct. 1, 1977, the use of 55-gallon barrels as refuse containers at homes or commercial establishments will no longer be allowed.

According to city ordinance, refuse containers "shall be of metal or plastic cans of not less than 20 gallons nor more than 32 gallons capacity."

The sanitation superintendent said that the department must begin enforcing this regulation in order to operate efficiently and to help prevent back injuries to workers.

"A 55-gallon container, loaded with refuse, is much too heavy for one man to handle," Wallace said.

Wallace also pointed out the city regulations governing refuse and its disposal in the city and noted that, according to the ordinance, anyone convicted of violating the regulations, shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $50 and that each day the violation exists shall constitute a new and separate offense.

The regulations on refuse pickup are:

Accumulation of Refuse: It shall be unlawful for any person to cause or permit the accumulation of refuse in, about, or upon premises owned, occupied, or used by them when and if such accumulation is unsightly, unsanitary, or hazardous to the property, life, health, safety, or welfare or the public.

Maintaining Dump Ground: It shall be unlawful to deliver refuse to or upon private property or to maintain a dump ground, either public or private, for the deposit of garbage of any kind.

Disposal of Trash: It shall be unlawful for any person to dispose of trash within the corporate limits of the city or elsewhere, except at the land-fill site.

Scattering Refuse: It shall be unlawful for any person to throw, place, or scatter any garbage, rubbish, trash, or other refuse over or upon any premises, street, or alley, either public or private, or adjacent thereto, and either with or without the intent to later remove, or burn, or to suffer or permit from the accumulation of refuse, any premises owned, occupied or controlled by any such person to become or remain offensive, unsanitary, unsightly, unsafe to public health, or hazardous from fire.

Learning Center Slates Reunion

Students and former students of the Adult Learning Center at Murray State University will gather for the third annual Reunion and Potluck Supper at 7 p. m. Monday, Sept. 12, in Room 228 of Roy Stewart Stadium on the campus.

Chuck Guthrie, center director, said all active students, along with all former students at the center, are invited and encouraged to attend and to bring a guest to share in a good time.

He explained that participants should bring their favorite covered dish. Soft drinks and coffee will be provided. Guthrie emphasized that the event is informal and that dress will be casual.

Phil Deaver, coordinator of professional and special activities in the Center for Continuing Education on the campus, will speak to the gathering.

Welcome Back Party Planned For Students

The Dixieland Merchants Association is sponsoring a "welcome back" party for Murray State University students tonight at the center on Chestnut Street.

The party will begin at 7 p. m. and entertainment will be provided by the Jaraboga Band. The merchants will provide Coca-Cola and popcorn for those attending.

Xmas Tree Marks Day Dad Left

DEAR ABBY: A reader wrote in asking what you thought of people who still had their Christmas tree up in May. He suggested that perhaps the men in the white coats carrying butterfly nets should be called. I'm glad you didn't join in and ridicule the people whose tree was still up because ours has been up longer than theirs.

My husband disappeared on December 22nd, 1975, and no one has heard a word from him since. He helped me put up our Christmas tree on the 20th of December, and our kids (now 6, 9 and 10) keep begging me not to take the tree down "until Daddy comes home."

It's still up. My hopes are fading, but you know how kids are—they never give up. God bless them.

ALL CRIED OUT

DEAR CRIED: If prayers will help, be assured you have mine.

DEAR ABBY: Seeing that you answer everything from A to Z, I was wondering if you'd stop at "D" for dogs. I have a problem with mine. He's an 8-month-old shepherd—a terrific dog, but I can't seem to housebreak him.

He is not dumb, but I can't seem to get the idea across to him that he has to wait until someone lets him out.

Abby, I have read dog books and followed every suggestion in the book, from rubbing his nose in the mess to spanking him within an inch of his life, but nothing has worked for me.

I hope you'll print this because there must be a way to housebreak a dog that works, even though it's not in a book.

DESPAIRING

DEAR DESPAIRING: My canine consultant suggests that you establish a "routine" by walking your dog at set times of the day. If he does what he's supposed to do where he's supposed to do it, reward him with a treat. And if he messes in the house, scold him in a harsh tone and "show" him why you are displeased. He'll catch on.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for trying to educate the public concerning the handicapped.

My wife and I are both deaf and mute (please, not "deaf and dumb") and we use sign language to communicate with each other.

The reaction of some uninformed people we encounter in places of business would astonish you.

I'd like to repeat a very old, but true story to make my point. One afternoon two fine Boston gentlemen were hanging onto the straps of a trolley. Below them were seated two deaf-mutes, conversing in sign language.

One of the straphangers whispered to his friend, "I'm curious about something," whereupon he took a note pad and pencil from his pocket and wrote, "CAN YOU WRITE?" Then he handed it to one of the deaf-mutes, who, after studying it carefully, slowly drew from his pocket an elegant, expensive fountain pen, emerald in color and trimmed in gold. Then, with a grand flourish, he penned a few words on the note pad and handed it back to the standing gentlemen.

Imagine their chagrin when they read in exquisite penmanship: "CAN YOU READ?"

What's 'average' for the two-month-old baby

Every infant is uniquely individual. Studies show that from the first month of life, all babies don't enjoy the same tastes and smells. They don't develop at the same pace either. Here's an assessment of an "average" infant's development during its second month.

- Lifts head about four inches and keeps it in that position about five seconds.
- When held in a verticle position under the arms, holds head straight.
- Cycles arms and legs smoothly.
- When sitting, holds head erect. It may still bob.
- Holds toys in hand longer than 10 seconds.
- Grasp becomes voluntary.
- May swipe at objects.
- Reacts to smile by returning smile.

Most Fresh Fruits Need Tender Care

Some fresh fruits—like fall apples and hard winter pears—will keep for months under proper conditions. But most fruits are at their best for only a few days. All of them should be carefully handled and stored, according to a food specialist with the UK College of Agriculture's Cooperative Extension Service.

"Sort fruits carefully as soon as you get them home," says Fudeko Maruyama, "and remove from fresh eating any that are dead-ripe or damaged."

She says you should leave unripe peaches, pears, plums, nectarines, avocados and cantaloupes out in open air at room temperature to ripen.

Keep them out of direct sunlight. Space them one layer deep so that fruits do not touch each other.

If you store these fruits in the refrigerator right away, they won't continue the ripening process, she explains.

Grapes, pineapple, and watermelon won't ripen further after picking, so the way you buy them is the way you'll be eating them.

Maruyama says that the length of time a fresh fruit will retain its high quality under home storage conditions will vary with the stage of ripeness and the condition it was in when you bought it. However, the following can serve as a guide for how long different ripe fruits may be held in the refrigerator and keep their high quality.

APPLES, eating ripe - 1 week.

AVOCADOS - 1 week.

CRANBERRIES - 1 week.

GRAPES - 3 to 5 days.

NECTARINES - 3 to 5 days.

PEACHES - 3 to 5 days.

PEARS - 3 to 5 days.

PLUMS - 3 to 5 days.

STRAWBERRIES - 1 to 2 days.

WATERMELONS - 3 to 5 days.

CANTALOUPE - 3 to 5 days.

Once fruit has been cut into, it's very perishable. Store in refrigerator, wrapped in plastic film, and eat up quickly.

NORTH CALLOWAY PTC OFFICERS presided at the first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Club held Thursday, September 1, with a potluck supper preceding the meeting. Ann Brooks, center, was elected as treasurer to fill a resignation. Other officers are, left to right, Maurita Burken, Karen Goetz, Faye Key, and J. W. Jones, president, who presided and presented a check for $500 to James Feltner, principal, to be used toward the football program. Mr. Feltner introduced all the new teachers and presented the new programs that will be added to the curriculum this year. Mr. Jones thanked the people that participated in the recent work day at the school and said another work day was planned for Saturday, September 10, from eight a.m. to twelve noon. The president invited all persons to be at the school on Saturday morning to help at the work day.

Women With Breast Cancer Operations Want Plastic Surgery, Not Prosthesis

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

CHICAGO (AP) — Women who have had breast cancer operations should not be stigmatized for wanting plastic surgery to give them a new breast rather than a prosthesis made of cloth or plastic, says an American Cancer Society official.

"It seems grossly unfair that once she has lost her breast, there is a stigma attached to wanting to get it back," Francine E. Timothy told the society's second national conference on human values and cancer on Wednesday.

"Whether a woman can have breast reconstruction is entirely up to the surgeon, but she should at least be allowed to want one without being judged," said Mrs. Timothy, who is director of the society's Reach to Recovery Program and who has had a breast removed. The agency is designed to help women who have had mastectomies, or surgical removal of the breast.

"For some women, the hope of an eventual (breast) reconstruction is the one thing that makes them hold on to life which may already be complicated or depressing" because of a breast amputation, she told about 1,700 persons at the conference.

"Any amputation is a terrible thing, but some amputations are more symbolic than others, and this particular one causes an internal turmoil that logical reasoning doesn't quiet," said Mrs. Timothy.

Many women have no idea to whom they could ask questions about a reconstruction, and often don't ask at all out of timidity. It is the fear of being judged vain or frivolous that keeps some women from looking into the possibilities, she said.

Artificial breasts, made of cloth and plastic, are worn by thousands of women who have lost a breast to cancer.

Instead of prosthesis, many women wish to have plastic surgery to give them a new breast, and they have many reasons for the desire, said Mrs. Timothy, who said she has not had plastic surgery.

"Imagine, each one of you, that every single morning you must attach an extra thing to your body, a thing of considerable weight which you can't forget, ever, during the day because it must constantly be checked," Mrs. Timothy said.

"In my interviews with operated women, I found that young women care desperately about being obliged to live with only one breast, but I found that married women care as much, and single women care as much and older women care as much."

"Perhaps," Mrs. Timothy continued, "breast reconstruction is almost more important to an older woman. A mastectomy is particularly hard on a woman who is already having trouble accepting the fact of growing older."

To Wed In October

Miss Jill Falwell

and Howard Glen Mathis

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Falwell of Murray announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jill Denise, to Howard Glen Mathis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Mathis of Murray.

The bride-to-be is a 1977 graduate of Calloway County High School and is presently attending Murray State University. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Falwell of Murray and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Smith of Farmington.

Mr. Mathis is a 1973 graduate of Calloway County High School and is also attending Murray State University. He is presently employed at Joe Todd Motor Sales in Murray. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Mathis of Murray and the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ernstberger.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, October 22, at 6:30 p. m. at the Murray Woman's Club House, Murray. A reception will follow the wedding ceremony. All friends and relatives are invited to attend the wedding and the reception.

Now is moving time for some of our plants. Peonies and lily of the valley roots are among those that may need thinning.

Lilies of the valley need deep rich soil. They multiply so fast that in two or three years the bed will become so crowded that they will not bloom so well. Day lilies can also be thinned out now.

There is a lot that can be done in the next few weeks. Cleaning up time is here. Dead branches, dead blossoms, any other debris that collects around the base of a plant should be taken away. It not only makes the flower bed look neater, but it will leave no place for insects to find a winter's home.

One plant I have missed this summer is the Lantana. It is one of the old favorites, and I always hated to see the frost catch it in the fall. We are a little too far north to leave them outdoors during the winter. But they are cheap and easy to obtain and among the brightest of summer flowers.

I think I will concentrate on some of the old-fashioned blossoms next spring. I remember the Verbena and the Four-o'clocks and the nasturtiums in my mother's yard. I remember a little yellow bowl that we called the nasturtium bowl, because they seemed to just fit in it with their bright blossoms spilling all around. We need some of the old ones, to mix in with the new hybrid blossoms that are so exotic and lovely. I have always believed in making your yard your own. Express yourself in your planting. Put your favorite colors and textures to work, make a pattern that suits you.

We feel more at home in a garden of this sort, rather than a formal design laid out by a professional. I would be miserable in a place like that, and I expect I would always be poking around changing things more to my liking.

Don't be afraid to be an individual. You may think others know more about gardening than you do, but you learn by doing. Each year we make changes. Sometimes I am surprised that a certain plant lives, because I have moved it around until I find a place that I like.

That is why it is a good thing to go out in the yard and look at it as an outsider would. You can get a better perspective that way and can have a more orderly plan.

That is what September is for. Not only, do we take care of our old plants, but begin to think of fall planting. Do try to set out at least one new plant.

If the opportunity presents itself, go down to the sea for sea shells and come up with some nifty planters for mini-bouquets. Or use old pill bottles, salt or pepper shakers, demitasse cups or vanilla bottles beside your salad plates or wine glasses. Think several small arrangements for your dinner party instead of the traditional center piece. A few sprigs from your potted begonias or African violets, some interesting leaves from your coleus or textured foliage plants make charming tiny bouquets. They do not take up any space and add a cheerful touch to any table. Or try one on your hors d'oeuvre tray in a large clam shell. There is no end to the effects you can dream up if you think small and use your houseplants and containers in a creative way.

After-School Snack Time Easy With Milk Products

ATLANTA, Ga. — Back to school time means after-school snack time. Sometimes it's a challenge to find foods that will be accepted by youngsters — and at the same time be nourishing.

Fortunately, there are milk and dairy products to turn to. They are nourishing and can be prepared in ways that are appealing to children. And, right now, the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) advises that they are also plentiful.

USDA marketing specialists report that although September milk output will be seasonally lower than last spring's output, it should be above the Sept. 1976 level. Butter, cheese, instant nonfat dry milk and other dairy products are also in abundant supply.

Milk and dairy products are one of the "Basic Four" food groups — essential in order to keep strong and healthy. They provide calcium to help grow sound bones and teeth, and protein to help build and repair body tissues and fight infection. They are also a good source of riboflavin, a B vitamin that helps keep skin healthy and vision clear.

Milk and dairy products can add new dimensions in menu planning. Try these recipes which have been tested in USDA kitchens:

Maple Float (6 servings, about 1 cup each): Mix one-third cup maple syrup, 1 tablespoon molasses and 5 cups milk. Stir well. Cut 1 pint vanilla ice cream into 6 pieces and place 1 piece in each glass. Pour maple mixture over ice cream and serve immediately. Calories per serving: About 275. For fewer calories, use skim milk in place of whole milk. About 215 calories per serving.

Strawberry Milkshakes (6 servings, 1-one-third cups each): Thaw 1 ten-ounce package of frozen strawberries until soft but still very cold, crush. Add 1 quart milk and 1 cup instant nonfat dry milk to strawberries and blend thoroughly. Add 1 quart slightly softened strawberry ice cream and beat or shake just enough to blend ingredients. Pour into tall glasses and serve immediately. Calories per serving: About 370.

Cheese Bread Sticks (makes 24 bread sticks): Stir together 1 1/2 cups unsifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 3/4 teaspoon salt. Mix in one-third cup shortening until the mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. With a fork, stir in 1 cup or 4 ounces shredded sharp cheddar cheese. Stir in 3/4 cup milk gradually, using just enough to make a dough that is soft, but not sticky. Preheat oven to 450 degrees F.

Put dough on a lightly floured surface and knead a few times. Roll pieces of dough between palms to form pencil-like shapes about 1/2 inch in diameter and 4 inches long. Roll dough in poppy seeds if desired. Bake on an ungreased baking sheet about 10 minutes. Calories per bread stick: About 80.

Bridal Teas In Honor Of Recent Bride

Mrs. Phil McCuiston, the former Rita Crittendon, was honored with two prenuptial events prior to her recent marriage.

A tea was held in the Red Room of the Holiday Inn, Murray, with Mesdames Isaac Dowdy, Kenneth Clark, Alfred Williams, Guy Luther, Jim Kelly, Charles Burken, Bill Outland, James Outland, Charles Outland, Ron McNutt, Henry Willoughby, Charles Henry, and Nuel McNutt as hostesses.

One hundred persons attended or sent gifts.

The fellowship hall of the Bell City Baptist Church was the scene of a tea held in her honor. The hostesses were Mrs. Hubert Paschall, Mrs. Deese Towery, Mrs. Elmo Williams, and Mrs. Roger Ward.

Two hundred persons were present or sent gifts.

Xi Alpha Delta

Chapter Meets At

The Ellis Center

The Xi Alpha Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its first meeting of the 1977-78 year on Thursday, September 1, at the Ellis Center.

The program was presented by Richard Valentine of the Murray Calloway County Community Theatre. He was assisted by Bryan Bartlett.

A business meeting was held and Beth Lasater was chosen by her sisters as the 1978 Valentine Queen.

Refreshments were served by hostesses, Shirley Martin and Linda Hodge.

A Baby?...Yes

NEW YORK (AP) — A couple of years ago Dr. Elizabeth M. Whelan wrote a book, "A Baby," which originated from the dilemma she and her husband faced about whether or not to have children and reflected the quandary of many American couples who debate the pros and cons of parenthood.

Recently Dr. Whelan, who runs a premarriage counseling service, and her husband, attorney Stephen Thomas Whelan, announced the birth of a daughter, Christine.

"After we looked at the pros and cons and weighed all possible alternatives as scientifically as we could, we finally realized that what we were dealing with was basically an emotional decision," she said. "We felt — for no fully rational reason — that we didn't want to miss the experience of having at least one child."

E. D. Fulton Is Honored Sunday, 100th Birthday

The family of E.D. Fulton honored their father on his 100th birthday on Sunday, September 4, at his home in Clarksville, Tn.

Bride-elect Honored With Tea At The Peoples Bank

The Community Room of the North Branch of the Peoples Bank was the scene of a tea honoring Miss Donna Smith, bride-elect of Randall Howard Brandon, held on Saturday, August 20.

Mesdames Charles Caldwell, Max Walker, Thomas Jones, J. D. Outland, G. T. Brandon, Marvin Harris, Bruce Thomas, Gene Parker, Patrick Estes, Brent Outland, Allen Rose, and Billy Roberts were the hostesses for the bridal occasion.

Miss Smith chose to wear for the event a floor length dress of yellow dotted swiss and was presented a matching corsage of carnations by the hostesses. Her mother, Mrs. Edgar Smith and the prospective groom's mother, Mrs. Howard Brandon, also wore floor length dresses and corsages of carnations.

The tea table was draped to the floor with a fitted lace cloth. A silver wine cooler filled with roses was placed at the center and flanked by two candelabra holding white tapers. A fruit punch was served with a variety of party sandwiches and sweets.

Miss Bonnie Smith, sister of the bride-elect, presided at the register table which was covered with a white embroidered cloth and decorated with a special arrangement of roses. Each of the small tables provided for seating were also covered with a white cloth and centered with roses.

Friends called between the hours of two to four p.m. The hostesses' gift to the honoree was a steam iron.

Tuition Waiver Needs A Chance

The state Council on Higher Education staff and CHE executive director Harry Snyder are planning to take a second look at the waiver of out-of-state tuition for some students at Murray State University.

We can not take issue with the need for further evaluation of the innovative plan — which allows students from 25 counties in Indiana, Illinois and Missouri to attend MSU at in-state tuition rates — but we think that a second look at this time is premature.

The plan was only adopted by the CHE in April of this year and many high school seniors were already committed to attend other colleges by that time. We do not feel that the full impact of the tuition waiver plan will be felt until the fall semester of 1978.

That would be the time, in our estimation, for the plan to be reevaluated.

The tuition break for out-of-state students was instituted to help Murray State pay off a debt on dormitories built in the sixties. Between 1967 and 1975, MSU lost 40 per cent of its out-of-state students as their tuition increased and the university has been forced to subsidize dormitories and dining halls by about $365,000 per year, according to Snyder.

The out-of-state tuition waiver, to us, shows promise of bailing Murray State out of its underpopulated dormitory problem. But it will take time for the results to become evident.

We urge Mr. Snyder and the CHE to continue to collect data on the program in the coming months in an effort to determine its effectiveness. We also urge Mr. Snyder and the CHE staff to give the program enough time that it can be effectively evaluated.

To rescind the program at this time would be an injustice not only to the university, but to the students directly affected.

Computermania, a computer exposition, wound up recently in Boston. More than 400 exhibits of computers, unusual calculators, video games, video recorders, programs and accessories were on display.

The computer revolution has been going on for 20 years. It is in full swing. Computer technology has taken several giant leaps forward. Computer applications have fallen behind the technology and will take many years to catch up. Meanwhile, further revolutionary advances in the technology may be anticipated.

Business and industry have been in the forefront of the computer revolution. Now the computer is coming into the home, not simply in the form of calculators but in more sophisticated guise — to perform tasks like fiscal record keeping, and to provide entertainment.

The role of computers in the home will be greatly expanded by the availability of new communications channels via cable connections and satellite links.

Our computermania may seem like insanity at times but that is only because the possibilities of the technology are so new, so various and so exciting.

O+O

The United States Public Health Service has compiled statistics that show that single people suffer less from spells of dizziness than married people. So what else is new?

O+O

It may be surprising to learn that the federal government spends more than $78 million to keep tobacco growing and another $8 million to discourage the public from smoking it. But government historically has worked at cross-purposes. And if this is inconsistent procedure, the government usually is consistent about it, as it is just in this area of things to smoke.

We have in mind the Carter administration's proposal on marijuana, which discourages its sale and distribution but encourages, by decriminalizing small possession, its use. If this administration or any other ever decides just to legalize the whole marijuana business, we don't doubt that government will remain inconsistently consistent, maybe by spending $78 million to keep marijuana growing, and another $8 million to discourage the public from smoking it.

Jimmy's White House

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

Still Likes Musical After Six Viewings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secret Service bodyguards assigned to White House duty often find themselves cast as sphinx-like witnesses to history. Some also become culture vultures, if only by osmosis.

Take the case of Richard Keiser, the chief of President Carter's bodyguard force. He has seen the durable musical "Man of La Mancha" so often it must seem like "The Impossible Dream," which of course is the hit song of the show.

Keiser first saw the musical with Lynda Bird Johnson, then his principal protectee, when Richard Kiley created the role on Broadway during the administration of Lyndon B. Johnson.

The veteran Secret Service agent saw it again when Lynda Bird went back with her beau of the moment, actor George Hamilton.

Then Lynda returned with her mother, Lady Bird, and Keiser was there.

When Jose Ferrer took over the title role from Kiley, Lynda Bird returned for the fourth time. Of course, Keiser was present.

Keiser supposed he had seen the show for the last time when he took his wife to see it.

But this was not to be. He returned to "Man of La Mancha" at the National Theater here last month when the President and Mrs. Carter saw it with Kiley back as the star.

"It's a good thing I like it," said Keiser. "Truly it's one of my favorites. But the time I really enjoyed it was when I took my wife."

On the five other occasions, Keiser was too busy bodyguarding to concentrate on the action on stage.

Jody Powell, the White House press secretary, confessed last week that he feels he has been barraged with sticks and stones as he has fielded questions about budget chief Bert Lance. When a reporter asked how long Powell had harbored this feeling, the Carter spokesman demonstrated that his sense of humor has not deserted him.

"Actually," Powell replied, "it stems from an incident at age 2 when I repeated a statement my father had made and my mother washed out my mouth with soap. I stated I did not think that was fair inasmuch as my father had said the same thing. She agreed to take it up with my father when he came home, and he whipped my fanny. And ever since that time I have had the feeling that the world was indeed not fair."

In his first seven months in office, Carter has been an enthusiastic devotee of the theater, music and ballet. Unlike other recent presidents, however, he hasn't wasted any time on spectator sports — at least in public.

But just last Sunday he provided a hint that he watches some televised sports when he telephoned congratulations to 14-year-old Tracy Austin after a network broadcast of her preliminary-round win in the U.S. Open tennis tournament. Carter is a tennis player.

The last time Carter let it be known he was watching TV sports was when he tarried during his campaign to watch a few innings of the World Series.

Bible Thought

These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full. John 15:11.

Of course, we know, that we can never contain or keep joy, it must be continually given away. That is the manner of God — always to be giving joy!

Garrott's Galley

By M. C. Garrott

A Couple Telephone Calls In The Night

Late one evening recently I was suddenly awakened from a nap on the floor before the TV by the ringing of the telephone. I thought at first that it was J. W. Pitman calling with an impulsive suggestion for a column. He comes up with some of my best ideas.

Instead, a voice said, "Mr. M. C. Garrott, please. This is the White House calling."

"Now I wonder who is trying to pull my leg," I thought as I replied, "This is Mr. Garrott at General Washington's headquarters at Valley Forge. What can I do for you?"

A laugh came over the wire as a man's voice came on. "It's Dale, Uncle M., and that's right. I am calling from the White House."

Dale is Dale Wilson, one of our Murray State graduates and now a Secret Service agent at the White House in Washington. He also is married to my one and only niece, Sheryl, also a Murray graduate. He wanted to know when Murray's Homecoming weekend would be. They wanted to come down for it.

October 29, I told him, and that we would be delighted to have them in town for all the festivities. They plan to bring another couple with them.

When Dale, a real Yankee from the Buffalo, N. Y., area who talks with an accent just like Roy Kain's, graduated from Murray State in 1976. He went to Atlanta to teach and coach in a high school, and it was during a Career Day program that he met a Secret Service representative, became interested in the Service and applied for one of the agent appointments.

After being carefully investigated by virtually everybody in the national government, he was appointed and assigned to the Savannah, Ga., office.

From Savannah, he roamed all over the southeast, running down counterfeiters, moonshiners, income tax evaders and what-have-you before being reassigned to the White House a little more than a year ago. He also was given many special assignments from Washington.

He has been to the Middle East with Nixon, with Mrs. Nixon, the Ford's and others, but most of his traveling until recently was with Henry Kissinger, the former secretary of state. This was a real gypsy life as Kissinger constantly was on the move.

During the presidential campaigns last year, Dale was with several of the candidates at one time or another and spent a lot of time standing under the trees on the lawn of Jimmy Carter's Plains, Ga., home, especially after he was elected.

Presently, his White House duty involves providing security for Rosalyn Carter, the President's wife, and she stays at home a lot like a good wife should. He has found this duty to be a tremendous relief from the suitcase life he lived with the Kissinger entourage.

He and Sheryl and their 20-month-old daughter, Courtney, live in Reston, Va., the much-publicized model community built some 20 years ago out from Washington near Dulles Airport, and he's living a different life now — that of being able to spend more time with his family.

Dale loves his work, but he is pretty tight-lipped about it, which is easily understood.

I had barely stretched out on the floor again and had just tucked my favorite pillow under my head before the phone rang a second time.

This time, as strange as it may seem, it was Frank Toth, the man who served with me for two years during World War II as the first sergeant of my company. I haven't seen him for at least 15 years.

Frank lives in San Antonio, Tex., where we were stationed and where he met a local girl and married. He came from Youngstown, Ohio, the son of Hungarian immigrants. In fact, his parents could not speak English when we were in the Army together.

Frank's ability to speak Hungarian turned out to be a Godsend later when in France we had a dozen Hungarian prisoners of war assigned to our unit to "do the chores." He could tell them what to do, praise their work and cuss them out in their native language, and they loved him dearly.

Frank is getting near retirement now. He is a salesman with a San Antonio meat packing plant, a job he has held since returning to Texas after the war. He is looking forward to turning in his order book.

"I was just sitting here thinking about you," he said to start our long distance visit, "and just thought I would trace you down and give you a call." We must have talked for 30 minutes, reminiscing and making tentative plans for locating all the fellows in our unit and trying to hold some kind of a reunion while we could still get there.

It was really a warm feeling to be remembered by one so far away. Frank's call made my day.

Religion Can Work In School

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — As the bus rolled to a stop, several students grabbed their Bibles and began trotting toward the little theater at Cawood High School.

They were late for the morning devotional service and had to stand quietly outside the door until it was over.

"The youngsters don't like to miss one of these sessions but it happens when the bus runs behind schedule," said Wilma Boggs.

She will challenge anyone who might argue that the religious program at the Harlan County school conflicts with state law.

"There's no violation of the Constitution because the students are doing this on their own time," explained Mrs. Boggs, a teacher who has been involved in the project from the beginning.

"We started seven years ago," she recalled. "Two or three boys came in and asked permission to hold a non-denominational service before classes started. They felt the need for it."

When authorities gave their consent, Mrs. Boggs agreed to sit in on the 15-minute sessions. "I'm there in a supervisory capacity. If Biblical questions come up, I attempt to answer them."

The religious gathering wasn't an overnight success.

"We began meeting in a classroom and attracted about 12 to 14 boys and girls," Mrs. Boggs said, then broke into a smile. "Three years ago, things began to pick up and we had to move to the theater to accommodate the larger crowds. We now average about 50 students a day."

Youngsters take turns leading the devotional. Some may pick out a favorite verse from the Bible and explain what it means to them.

"We're getting recognition," Mrs. Boggs continued. "For the past two years, our kids have been in charge of the baccalaureate service at graduation exercises."

Something else has happened at Cawood High, and the principal

Looking Back

10 Years Ago

Bids were opened yesterday on fifty elderly housing units in Murray and work is expected to get underway soon. Quality Construction Company was the low bidder with the amount of $439,000.

B. H. Cornett and J. Tip Miller of Murray are now in Fairbanks, Alaska, working to help restore the Baptist churches there which were damaged by the recent floods in August. They will work without pay for two weeks.

Deaths reported include Jesse Franklin Bland and Aron Thorpe.

Jerald Brent McNutt, Thomas Brandon, and Ronald Lee Fox have enlisted in the United States Navy.

Births reported include twin girls to Mr. and Mrs. David Sykes on September 7.

20 Years Ago

Approximately thirty-five members of the Murray Jaycees were in Fulton September 5 to charter the Fulton Chapter. Harold Beaman, Murray president, presented the charter and gavel to the new group.

R. L. Cooper, administrative assistant of the Calloway County Health Department, announced that the tuberculosis x-ray trailer will be in Murray starting September 10.

Officers of the Faxon Mothers Club are Mrs. William Dunn, Mrs. Eurie Thompson, Mrs. Albert Wilson, Mrs. Terrill Roberts, and Mrs. Mutt Williams.

Mrs. Willie Hargrove was honored with a basket dinner on her birthday at the home of Mrs. Galon Turner.

Showing at the Varsity Theatre is "Silk Stockings" starring Fred Astaire and Cyd Charisse.

30 Years Ago

The "Birthplace of Radio" monument in the city of Murray was photographed for the cover of the August issue of Kentucky Press, a trade periodical which goes to every newspaper in the state of Kentucky. The engraving was supplied by the Murray Chamber of Commerce and the Ledger & Times.

Deaths reported include Mrs. Cora Yarbrough, age 73.

Members of the local dairy judging team entering the contest at the Kentucky State Fair are Dan Shipley and Jack Mayfield of Murray Training, Hoyt Cleaver of Almo, Bobby Foy of Murray and High, and H. L. Jones of Kirksey. They were accompanied by S. V. Foy, county agent.

Miss Lulabelle Beale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Beale, was married to Glen Hodges, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hodges on September 6 in Paducah.

Officers of the Lynn Grove High School PTA are Mrs. Paul Canter, Mrs. Claude DeBoard, and Mrs. Mary Ridings.

One year ago: The Civil Service Commission ordered the deletion of all political loyalty questions from standard job applications in compliance with a court ruling.

Letter To The Editor

Thanks

Dear Editor:
I wish to thank you for running our summer recreation schedule in the Murray Ledger & Times for the past few months. We have had many people mention that they had become aware of our program as a result of your paper. So many times local people feel as though they are not welcome at our programs. Thanks to you we are beginning to change that attitude.

We will be coordinating several special programs during the winter months. I will let you know of them as more details are available.

I look forward to working with you in the future.

New Providence Horse Show Rated As Success

The New Providence Riding Club had its fifth annual super horse show September 3. It was one of the biggest shows held in the state of Kentucky this year. The club gave a total of $2,800.00 prize money to the winners.

Participants were from 75 different towns representing Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee as well as Kentucky, with a total of 320 entries for the show.

The two classes drawing the most contestants were open western pleasure where $500.00 was given as prize money.

First place was won by Loretta Howard, Paducah; second place Paula Hopkins, Iedbetter; third place Beryl Jones, Thayer, Missouri; fourth place Jerry Sutton, Norris City, Illinois; fifth place, Debbie Tilman, Trenton, Tenn.; and sixth place went to Beth Keeter, Clarksville, Tenn. A total of 45 entered the class.

The super barrel race had a $1,000.00 prize money, with forty-seven people trying for it.

First place went to Annabell Umberger, Rt. 2, Edwardsville, Ill. She had a time of 16.719. She was the 1976 winner. Second place went to Bill Cochran, Gays, Ill.; third place to Bill Adams, Franklin; fourth place, Terry White, Portland, Tenn.; fifth place Annabell Umberger, Edwardsville, Ill.; sixth place went to Peggy Atkins of Hazel, (New Providence Club); and seventh place Calvin Coffie, Cave City, Kentucky.

Local people who placed during the show were Cindy Herndon, Gene Rickman, Mike Manning and Leslie Atkins.

James Sykes, Murray, was presented a silver plate and made an honorary member of the New Providence Riding Club for his years of free plumbing service for the club.

The club expressed thanks to the local spectators and all who helped to make the horse show a successful one, a club spokesman said.

Waivered To Cards

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles assigned the contract of third baseman Taylor Duncan to the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday for a $20,000 waiver price.

This season, Duncan has a batting average of .301, has hit 27 homers, and batted in 75 runs for Baltimore's Rochester farm club in the International League.

Duncan, 24, came to the Baltimore organization from the Atlanta Braves in a December 1972 trade. Duncan's career professional batting average is .288, but in six years he had never played for a big league club.

The Orioles were forced to assign Duncan outright this year because he was out of options when the team sent him to Rochester last spring.

Friday's Football Predictions

Last week's opening effort at the football predictions produced a 6-2 record, not including a 2-0 mark in the OVC.

The misses were Webster County's 21-point win at Crittenden County and of course, Heath's 26-0 win at Trigg County. It was a question of not knowing anything on the first two teams. As far as Heath's win over Trigg County, I proved my philosophy: don't pick upsets.

I had originally planned to run the football predictions each Friday but in order to assure getting the column in, I decided to run the column today. Since we always have the Murray State pre-game story in Friday's paper along with pictures and the story of whatever freshman game takes place on Thursday, the only time the column will run on Friday in the future will be when there are no home freshman games Thursday.

Someone asked me if I were going to mention the fact I predicted Murray High to win by 20 last weekend and Caldwell County to win by 14 over Marshall County. No, I won't mention it, even though both predictions were right on the nose.

Here we go with a very tough slate of games to predict for Friday:

Ballard Memorial at LONE AOK by one — Why? Ballard is 2-0 but they have yet to beat a good team. Lone Oak is not necessarily a good team but they are better than what the Bombers have faced thus far. It could go either way.

Fulton City at HEATH by 13 — Fulton City is 2-0 thus far while Heath is 1-1. Fulton City will probably not have the horses to stop big James Long of the Pirates. On the other hand, Anthony Parker of the Bulldogs could give Heath some trouble. This could be a rather high-scoring game, say like 27-13. If it were at Fulton, it could go the other way.

UNION COUNTY at Reidland by 21 — Any team that is tough enough to win over Madisonville, regardless of what Madisonville has, has to be good enough to beat Reidland.

EAST ST. LOUIS at Mayfield by 14 — The only thing I know about East St. Louis is the fact you don't walk down the streets by yourself at night. Otherwise, they are a huge school and from what I've heard up home, they are supposed to be one of the better teams in downstate Illinois.

Mayfield is 1-1 coming into the game. Ideally, if you are a Murray High fan, you hope this game will be a bruiser and goes down to the wire. The outcome of this game could definitely have some bearing on the Tiger-Mayfield game next Friday.

If indeed Mayfield should lose, Murray High will at least know Mayfield can be beaten. On the other hand, you sort of hate to see Mayfield come into their annual battle with Murray High and have a losing record don't you? If Mayfield should win rather convincingly, the Tigers will be in dire trouble next week.

Fulton County at MURRAY by 35 — How will the Tigers play it? Will Hina go out and let his club roll up the score and go into the Mayfield game with an impressive win? Or will the Tigers win by a smaller margin and make Mayfield think less of Murray than what they already do, which probably isn't much. Look for Murray to have a nice halftime lead then look at the roster for the second half as Hina will probably try and use everyone he can as he prepares his club for the grueling schedule ahead.

Todd Central at MARSHALL COUNTY — The Marshalls are for real. They will win by at least 20 points and take 2-1 record into next week's game with Tilghman. Look for the Marshalls to be the next rising power in the area.

Tilghman at OWENSBORO by 24 — Kiss it good bye if you are a Big Blue fan. There's no other way. Owensboro is numero uno in the state.

Christian County at CALDWELL COUNTY by six — This one could go either way. But since the Tigers are home, I'll have to favor them slightly over a very tough Colonel club.

Crittenden County at FORT CAMPBELL by 34 — Great guns. Fort Campbell took it on the chin, 28-0 last week by Mayfield, but they'll bounce back this time around against the loser of last week's "losers' bowl."

FRANKLIN-SIMPSON at Hopkinsville by 14 — Franklin-Simpson displayed an awesome offense in last week's 39-14 win over Russellville. Hoptown won only 14-7 over Trigg County so by comparing scores, which is a sin in predicting games, we at least know Franklin-Simpson is quite a bit above average strength.

Butler County at RUSSELLVILLE by seven — I really have no business picking this but Russellville is in our district as far as Class A schools go. The game should turn out close to the prediction.

Saturday's OVC games: UTM at Austin Peay by 21, NORTH ALABAMA at East Tennessee by seven, DELAWARE at Eastern Kentucky by seven, AKRON at Morehead by 21, Murray at DELTA STATE by three, Tennessee Tech at WESTERN CAROLINA by 10 and UT-CHATTANOOGA at Western Kentucky by six.

McCovey Rips His 24th Homer And Hits Another Milestone

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
After nearly going broke, Willie McCovey has hit the jackpot again.

All but counted out last year after the worst performance of his career in San Diego and Oakland, McCovey has returned to his original major league starting place in San Francisco and is enjoying a rich season.

His comeback at the age of 39 includes 24 home runs this year, one of which he hit Wednesday night to help the Giants beat the Cincinnati Reds, 6-3.

McCovey also reached the career 2,000-hit level with a double, but was more impressed with his homer.

"Total hits don't mean as much to me as the power hits," said McCovey, whose 48th home run boosted him into 13th place on baseball's all-time list.

The loss cost the Reds more ground in the National League West race. They dropped 12½ games behind the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers, who moved a step closer to the title with a 5-2 decision over the Atlanta Braves.

In other National League action, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the New York Mets 6-2; the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4; the San Diego Padres outscored the Houston Astros 9-5 and the Montreal Expos turned back the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

Right-hander Ed Halicki, 13-10, added a solo homer to McCovey's blast while recording his first triumph over the Reds in seven tries.

Dodgers 5, Braves 2

Ron Cey drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Dusty Baker added a solo shot, lifting Los Angeles over Atlanta. Cey led off the fourth with his 26th home run of the season, a drive against the scoreboard that tied the score at 2-2. Baker put the Dodgers ahead two outs later with his 23rd, a shot into the left-field seats.

After Reggie Smith singled with two out in the fifth, Cey sent another drive over the center-field fence, staking righthander Dennis Lewallyn, 1-0, to a 5-2 lead and chasing Atlanta starter Buzz Capra, 3-11.

Phillies 6, Mets 2
Larry Christenson pitched a two-hitter, Jay Johnstone hit a home run and Garry Maddox delivered a two-run single to lead Philadelphia over New York.

Christenson, 14-6, surrendered Lee Mazzilli's solo homer in the first inning and the Mets scored in the seventh with the help of three Philadelphia throwing errors.

Pirates 5, Cardinals 4
Bill Robinson drove in two runs and scored two more, carrying Pittsburgh over St. Louis. Terry Forster evened his record at 4-4, although he retired after five innings with a stiff pitching arm.

Padres 9, Astros 5
Dave Roberts drove in four runs with a double and a three-run homer as San Diego beat Houston.

The Padres' Dave Freisleben, 7-7, hurled the first five innings to earn the victory.

Expos 4, Cubs 2
Tony Perez blasted a two-run double and Gary Carter and Ellis Valentine added RBI singles to pace Montreal over Chicago.

Stan Bahnsen, 8-7, scattered eight hits through 6 2-3 innings to earn the decision while Rick Reuschel, 19-7, was stymied in a second try for his 20th victory.

Coach To Be Named

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The World Hockey Association's Birmingham Bulls planned to announce the name of their new coach at a news conference this morning. Officials declined Wednesday to divulge the coach's name in advance of the formal announcement.

Coach Pat Kelly recently was hired as coach of the Colorado Rockies of the National Hockey League when his contract with the Bulls expired.

Meanwhile, the Bulls announced Wednesday that veteran defenseman Jean Guy Lagace had been signed to a two-year contract.

Erlanger Lloyd Still Leads State 3-A Poll

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Erlanger Lloyd, despite an upset loss last week, is still No. 1 in the State AAA high school football poll. But another upset victim, Frankfort, didn't fare so well, falling from first to fifth in the State A poll.

Lloyd, a unanimous pick last week, dropped a 12-6 overtime decision to Boone County and suffered a lopsided loss to the sports writers and sportscasters casting ballots in The Associated Press poll. Lloyd collected eight first-place votes and 94 points to edge No. 2 Elizabethtown, 2-0, which garnered five first-place votes and 89 points after nipping Meade County 2-0.

Frankfort's downfall was the result of a 17-0 loss to Bardstown. Nicholas County, third a week ago, took over the top spot in State A after defeating last week's No. 2 team, Bellevue, by 14-8. Frankfort fell to fifth this time around while Bellevue dropped out of the top five.

The other three polls showed some changes but each retained last week's leaders.

Lexington Tates Creek, a 14-6 winner over stubborn Danville, earned seven first place votes and 165 points to hold first in the State AAAA ratings. Owensboro, an impressive 31-0 winner over Owensboro Catholic last week, grabbed four first-place votes and 97 points in vaulting two places to second.

Middlesboro defeated Ashland 25-6 for its second win of the season and maintained its hold on the No. 1 position in State AA. Middlesboro got 10 first-place votes and 136 points, while Somerset held second with four first-place votes and 110 points.

In the Jefferson County AAAA rankings, Louisville Trinity got four first-place votes and 48 points to hold off runnerup St. Xavier, which collected the other first place ballot and 42 points.

Southern moved up a spot to third in the Jefferson County poll, pushing Bishop David into fourth. Valley remained fifth.

Bowling Green grabbed a pair of first-place votes and remained third in State AAAA. Boone County, by virtue of its win over Lloyd, moved up one spot to fourth while Lexington Lafayette, a 23-21 victim of Christian County, fell three spots to fifth.

Ft. Thomas Highlands,

Montgomery County and Franklin-Simpson remained 3-4-5 in State AAA, Corbin held third in State AA, while Bardstown supplanted Caldwell's County in fourth place after its win over Frankfort.

Tompkinsville moved up three places to second in State A, followed by Campbellsville, newcomer Paintsville and Frankfort.

How to get money out of your house without selling it.

You simply come to us for a real estate loan backed by your equity.

Equity is the difference between how much your home is worth, and what you owe on it.

It's a valuable asset you can use to back a really big loan. For whatever you have in mind.

Real estate values are up, up, up.

So the house you bought just a few years ago probably would sell for a lot more than you paid.

Which means your equity is bigger. And the bigger your equity, the more you can borrow in a large real estate loan. Right here. Right now.

So the equity in your house is like money in your pocket. Call us. We've got your loan.

Willie Horton Ends Slump As He Paces Rangers Past Twins

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

The time was right for a change. Willie Horton was hitting just .156 against the Minnesota Twins and the Texas slugger decided something had to be done.

So, before Wednesday night's game, "I made up my mind to try to hit the ball to right field," he recalled.

The results of the designated hitter's brainstorm were a homer and a double to right and a single in Texas' 4-3 victory. "I haven't been getting anything good to hit inside all year. I've been planning to hit that way since the first two months of the season."

The Twins used a shift on Horton, placing three infielders between second and third base. Horton beat the shift with a long opposite-field homer in the second, then smacked a double down the right-field line in the sixth to score Toby Harrah from first with the winning run.

The victory was a different experience for Texas which had dropped four in a row and 12 of their last 18.

Royals 10, Mariners 7
Kansas City collected 18 hits, including four hits and two homers by Darrell Porter and four safeties by George Brett. The Royals overcame a six-run Seattle third inning.

The Royals have won 19 of their last 22 games in busting open the AL West logjam that saw four teams battle for the lead throughout the summer.

Yankees 4, Indians 3

Cleveland right-hander Wayne Garland was one out away from his first victory over New York, but Mickey Rivers' two-run single up the middle tied the game. Garland then lost it in the 10th on singles by Thurman Munson and Reggie Jackson and a throwing error by left fielder Bruce Bochte, which allowed Munson to score.

Blue Jays 3, Red Sox 2

Dave Lemanczyk, 11-13, pitched a six-hitter for his first triumph in six starts as Toronto broke an 11-game losing streak.

Roy Howell's opposite field homer off loser Ferguson Jenkins, 10-10, tied the game in the sixth. Gary Woods, recalled from the minor leagues just last week, knocked home the decisive run with a single later in the inning.

Orioles 6-5, Tigers 2-11

A pair of rookie catchers shared the spotlight in the doubleheader split. Baltimore receiver Dave Skaggs drove in five runs, three on a bases-loaded double in the 11th inning, to lead the Orioles to their first-game victory.

Lance Parrish, playing in only his second major league game, went 3-for-4 with four runs scored and four RBI in the nightcap. Parrish also hit his first major league home run.

White Sox 5, A's 1

Steve Renko, 3-0 since coming to the American League, combined with Dave Hamilton on a four-hitter for Chicago. Ralph Garr had a two-run homer and Don Kessinger a two-run triple for the White Sox.

74 Golfers Participate In Scramble

A total of 74 golfers played in the Labor Day Golf Scramble at the Oaks Country Club.

The winning team of Mickey Boggess, Mike Morgan, George Gallagher, Patsy Neale and Debbie Branch shot a 13-under par 59 and birdied all but number eight on the front nine.

Two teams tied for second at 12 under. They included Delmer Brewer, Don Cathey, Howard Steely, Carolyn Caldwell and Maxa Read on one team while the other team consisted of Jerry Caldwell, Jim Neale, Mike Lyons, Mary Bogard and Polly Seale.

Two teams tied for third with 11 under. They included Homer Branch, Bill Read, Bob Lamastus, Murrelle Walker and Ginni Hopkins on one team with Kevin D'Angelo, Dale Nance, Bill Roberts, Virginia Jones and Carita Lamb on the other team.

Three teams tied for fourth. On one team were Dalton Noel, Jerry Hopkins, Gene Hendon, Vicki Nance and Clyde Roberts while members of another team included Jim White, Tommy Hamlin, Hub Dun, Burlene Brewer and Linda White. The third team included Sam Griffin, Bill Bogard, Charles Caldwell, Mary Bain and Jeanie Morgan. All three teams were nine under.

Large Crowd Expected For Home Opener

Winless Fulton County To Test Tigers Friday

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Stan Watts knows what it will take for his Fulton County High School football team to win at Murray High Friday night.

"It would take a miracle for us to win," said Watts, a former Murray State placekicker.

While Watts seems to think his club may not be in the game, Murray High coach John Hina thinks a bit differently, though the Pilots have been outscored 61-8 in their opening two games with Ballard Memorial and Fulton City.

"We aren't taking them for granted. They are a very young and aggressive ballclub and they have always been known for their hard-hitting. On their defensive front four, their tackles go 250 and 225 and their ends are 205 and 185 so you can see they are a huge ballclub up front."

"We're not really sure what to expect from them. We know they are a pretty good club but how good, we don't know. They are kind of like the question mark beside our team. We really don't know how good we are either."

Hina and his club may not find out how good they are Friday, unless of course, they were to get upset. If that were to happen, they wouldn't be finding out how good they were, the word would be bad.

The Tigers will definitely find out how good they are beginning next Friday when they begin a murderous four-game league stand with successive games against Mayfield, Heath, Caldwell County and Trigg County. The Tigers will play the two toughest of those four, Mayfield and Caldwell County, on the road and Heath could be a definite contender for the 2-A crown.

As in almost all football games, there were good points and bad points for the Tigers in their 27-7 season opening win last week at Reidland.

"We were pleased with the fact we won the game. But, we were quite disappointed with the fact we were not consistent enough in doing things well or excellent."

"Our blocking and running were not consistent, though at times, we had some of the best blocking and some of the best running we've ever had at Murray High," Hina said.

The Tigers fell behind 7-0 in the game after losing a fumble and Reidland returned it for a touchdown. But on the following kickoff, Grettis Bumphis made an 86-yard kickoff return for a touchdown to immediately tie the game.

"We could have fallen flat after they scored their touchdown but we came right back with an outstanding return and some outstanding blocking on the return," Hina said.

"We're going to have to improve in our consistency if we expect to be able to compete with the better clubs in our district," the Tiger coach added.

Hina was pleased with a number of individuals in the contest at Reidland.

"I was pleased to see our quarterback, Greg Garland, stand up under fire like he did. It was his first fulltime start and not only did he stand up under fire, he also threw a touchdown pass."

"I thought we got fine performances in the backfield from Mike Hibbard, Grettis Bumphis and Keith Farless and on the line, I definitely think Alvin Parham should be pointed out for his good play. I also thought Jeff Kursave and John Denham performed well on the line."

"Defensively, Lane Bridwell was very impressive at tackle and I was also quite pleased with the defensive end play of Kyrile Catlett. Robert Whitmer and Frank Gilliam played well at the inside linebacker positions and Mike Utley had a fine game at willieback. Also, I was quite pleased with the way Bo Reed substituted in the secondary after Claude Johnson got hurt," Hina added.

Fulton County is improving. After being blanked 28-0 in their opener by Ballard Memorial, the Pilots at least got on the scoreboard last week in a 33-8 loss to Fulton City.

"We're sort of like Murray High," Watts said. "We lost 16 of 22 starting positions. We have six or seven sophomore starters and I think we have about 14 sophomores on the club. We only have six upperclassmen who start," Watts said.

The top offensive threat for the Pilots will be 5-6, 135-pound tailback Jeff Mays. In two games, he has carried 16 times for 160 yards.

"He's a well-built young man and he has a lot of speed and good balance. In time, he will probably be the best runner to come out of Fulton County," Watts said.

"We've had our problems with inexperience. We've been making too many penalties and having such things as the quarterback going one way and the backs another," Watts said.

"We're going to have to quit making the stupid mistakes and quit beating ourselves. If we leave Murray Friday and have lost the game, we want to say that Murray High beat us, not that we beat ourselves," Watts added.

LONDON — Britain's Tony Jacklin fired a three-under-par 70 to take the first-round lead in the $70,000 Tournament Players Championship over the 6,890-yard Foxhills course in Surrey. At 71 was another Briton, Mark James.

State Hardcourts Set For MSU This Weekend

The Kentucky State Hardcourt Tennis Championships for men will be held at the MSU Tennis Complex Saturday and Sunday.

Play will be held in both singles and doubles in the following divisions: open, 35 and over, 45 and over, and 50 and over.

In the open singles, defending champion Mel Purcell is playing at Forrest Hills and will not return to defend his title. Among the top-rated players in the singles include Keith West, who finished second to Purcell last year, and Peter Simpson. Both West and Simpson are members of the Memphis State tennis team.

Other plays to watch in the open singles are Kevin Walsh of the University of Louisville, Dan Lucas of Louisville, Del Purcell of Murray and all the members of the MSU tennis team.

In the 35 and over singles, Henry Baughman of Bowling Green, Willie Chandler of Jackson, Tenn., and Ron Underwood of Murray are the top players.

In the 45 and over singles, the favorites are Bennie Purcell of Murray and Paul Rowton of Paducah.

In the 50 and over division, top players include Ed Chrisman of Murray, Willie Williams of Fort Campbell and Dr. Bob Barrett of Jackson, Tenn.

Doubles will be held in each of the four groups. Finals in the open singles should begin at approximately 1 p.m. Sunday.

Mel Purcell Eliminated From U.S. Junior Open

Murray's Mel Purcell has been eliminated from competition in the United States Junior Tennis Open at Forrest Hills, New York.

Purcell, among the 32 top junior players in the world invited to play in the prestigious tourney, had won his opening round match Tuesday by winning in split sets over the top-rated junior player from Germany.

But against Ivan Lendl, the top-rated junior in Czechoslovakia, Purcell fell 6-1, 3-6 and 4-6 Wednesday and was eliminated.

There were six Americans in the tourney. Two others lost. They included John Benson and Peter Van't Hoff. The winners for the Americans were Van Winitzky, Elliot Telcher and Tim Wilkerson.

The three players who won have all played on the pro circuit this summer.

Purcell is still alive in the doubles at Forrest Hills. His partner in the mixed doubles is Ann Jones of Dallas, Texas. Ms. Jones was eliminated this past weekend in the singles as she lost a nationally televised split set match to Billie Jean King, who lost yesterday in the semis to Chris Evert.

By being entered in the mixed doubles, it simply means Purcell will have a chance to play against some of the big-name stars.

Purcell, who has passed up some cash winnings this summer in order to maintain his amateur standing, will enroll at Memphis State next week then later this month, will play in Africa.

Jimmy Connors Having More Than Just Physical Problems

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Jimmy Connors is a chameleon, a man of complex moods and changing personality traits, but is still the best tennis player in the world, says Bill Riordan.

Riordan speaks with authority. He is the Svengali who helped fashion two of the maddest geniuses of the game — the fiery, feisty Connors and the talented, tempestuous Ilie Nastase.

Nastase has made an early exit, a victim of his own unbridled temperament, but Connors, shrugging off an aching back, remains in the thick of the fight for the men's U.S. Open tennis championship, to be decided at Forest Hills this weekend.

"Jimmy can win it if he can get his head all together," predicted Riordan, wealthy Salisbury, Md., businessman and promoter who recognized Connors' latent talent when Jimmy was a fuzz-faced 16-year-old whom he later helped hoist to millionaire status.

"It's not Jimmy's back you have to worry about, it's his frame of mind. He is torn up emotionally. First, there's his broken romance with Chris Evert — they both are still nuts about each other — and the split has left a heavy bruise.

"He lost his father last fall. That had to be a traumatic experience. All those years he wasn't at home but traveling the circuit with his mother.

High strung as he is, he must be asking himself, 'My God, was all this worth it?'

"Then I wonder who, if anybody, is calming him down. He is typically a volatile, high strung person. The one thing I think I was able to do for him when we were together was keep him loose."

Riordan managed Connors from 1972 through 1975 when the relationship was broken by Jimmy's mother, Gloria.

Connors' career has been splotchy and erratic ever since. He won both the Wimbledon and U.S. crowns in 1974, establishing himself firmly as the world's No. 1, but has failed in the last three Wimbledon and lost twice in the finals at Forest Hills.

He has been plagued by an assortment of ills — a bad knee, injured thumb on his racket hand, chronic back trouble. He began assembling a record of pullouts and losses in the finals.

Questions have been raised: Are Connors' problems physical or mental? Is this brilliant young talent going into an eclipse?

"I don't know," acknowledges Riordan, "I am sure Jimmy's ailments are genuine. He is a plucky guy. But he has been spoiled by quick success. He doesn't work as hard. He is inclined to overeat and gain weight. Some of his confidence may be eroding."

Riordan said he first noticed Connors when the aggressive left-hander came East in 1971 to play in Riordan's National Indoor Championships in Salisbury.

"He was absolutely electrifying," Riordan added. "I got one look at him and said, 'This kid is going to be the best player in the world.'"

Riordan and Connors formed a partnership in 1972, and one of Jimmy's first pieces of equipment was a "black hat." He became the game's villain, an unreconstructed maverick.

"It was a perfect marketing and merchandising gimmick," Riordan explained. "This was the period of youth rebellion. Jimmy became an anti-establishment symbol. Intense, a gut fighter, he was a natural for it."

"He spurned the offers of Lamar Hunt and Jack Kramer, threw the money-lenders out of the temple. He joined my minitour. On the court, he would give the crowd the finger and yell four-letter words. Off the court, he became the epitome of charm, a 'Gee whiz, golly' kid."

"He played the game with hate in his heart, but once the match was over he knew how to deal with the public and the press. This made him the richest player in tennis. He also was the best. When he went all out, nobody could touch him."

"Now, I don't know. He has a barrel of problems — physical and mental. They are trying to stereotype him now, fit him into a mould. But, by nature, he's not a conformist."

"What Jimmy needs is to shake off the shackles and become the old Jimmy Connors — snotty, mean, arrogant, thoughtful, charming and the toughest, fightingest, strokingest tennis player who ever lived."

Evert Wins Over Past While Stove Defeats Future In U.S. Open Play

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Chris Evert beat the past and Betty Stove beat the future to advance to their semifinal matchup at the U.S. Open tennis championships.

The top-seeded Miss Evert provided a barometer for Billie Jean King's continuing singles comeback Wednesday night with a 6-2, 6-0 victory over the former queen of women's tennis.

About 4½ hours earlier, Tracy Austin, the 14-year-old future queen of tennis, drove her Cinderella carriage to center court. But Miss Stove turned the clock to midnight with a powerful 6-2, 6-2 triumph.

In the other women's quarterfinals matches today, No. 2 seed Martina Navratilova, the Czech expatriate now playing out of Dallas, faced No. 10 Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia and third-seeded Virginia Wade of Britain met Wendy Turnbull, the No. 12 seed from Australia.

With all the hoopla attached to Miss Austin, the most famous school girl this side of Amy Carter, a pair of men sneaked less dramatically into the semifinals.

Guillermo Vilas, the No. 4 seed from Argentina, could do no wrong in his 6-1, 6-1, 6-0 rout of unseeded Ray Moore of South Africa. Vilas has a Saturday semifinal date with Harold Solomon, the No. 12 seed from Silver Spring, Md., who wore down No. 10 Dick Stockton of Carrollton, Tex., 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

The other semifinal pairing will be determined today. Brian Gottfried, the No. 3 seed from Lauderhill, Fla., plays surprising Corrado Barazzutti of Italy and second-seeded Jimmy Connors, Belleville, Ill., meets fifth-rated Manuel Orantes of Spain.

While school bells were beginning to ring around the country, Miss Austin — set to enter the ninth grade in Rolling Hills, Calif. a week from today — was given a professional tennis lesson by Miss Stove, the 32-year-old native of The Netherlands.

"She just overpowered me," said Tracy, standing tall on the court at 5 feet and 90 pounds. "I was lucky to get in a rally. Most of the time she just put the ball away off her serve, and hit winners off mine. She was too strong for me."

Miss Stove gave Tracy a professional beating because she was able to see her pig-tailed opponent as the enemy, not just some cute little kid.

"Five or six years ago, I would have been sentimental, too," said the 6-foot, 160-pound Miss Stove. "And I would have lost to her."

"I never saw Tracy at all. I only saw the ball."

"I considered her a competitor, a very good competitor. She has a real good future."

Ms. King, a four-time champion here, had a wonderful past. But if her comeback from knee surgery and a year's retirement from tournament singles doesn't progress, she hinted that she would retire permanently.

"I'm really ticked with my play," said the person most responsible for the growth of women's tennis. "I played the big points badly. Chris played them much tougher."

"I better be ready by October or November, or that's it."

Let's Stay Well

Speeding and Safety

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Q: Mr. F.A. writes to express thanks for an article that told of the anxiety of a family about highway safety as they took a family automobile tour and felt endangered by drivers who exceeded the speed limit of 55 mph.

Expressing a similar anxiety, Mr. F.A. believes that special concern should be registered with responsible public officials about the "growing carelessness" of many truck and bus drivers who not only regularly exceed the speed limit but who also pass and tailgate carelessly.

Mr. F.A. says that his wife has always had special fears in driving when a large truck or bus approaches or passes her car. She called to her husband's attention a public report recently issued by the federal government's watchdog agency, the General Accounting Office (GAO), the investigative arm of the U.S. Congress. The report shows an increase in serious accidents involving buses and trucks. Mr. F.A. believes that public safety demands that highway authorities be pressured to see that buses and trucks are operated within the law.

A: You are correct that highway safety is being jeopardized by the operation of many buses and trucks at speeds which are above the limit. In addition, certain drivers of these large vehicles weave in and out of traffic, pass in limited places, and often tailgate in a dangerous manner.

According to the GAO report, buses and trucks are becoming involved in more accidents, and they are often of serious consequence. Accidents involving buses and trucks account for 20 per cent of the nation's motor vehicle fatalities, while these types of carriers make up only 18 per cent of the vehicles on the road.

The GAO reports that state and federal authorities are doing a poor job of checking these large vehicles to see if they are safe to operate on the highways. More than one-third of the trucks inspected by the Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety in 1974 and 1975 were considered highway hazards and taken out of service until repaired. Yet only 1 per cent of approximately four million commercial trucks and buses on the road were inspected during those years!

Safety inspectors are inadequate in number, there being only one inspector for about every 32,500 buses and trucks.

Driver fatigue is considered to be a factor in truck and bus accidents. Little is done to prevent drivers from operating too long and in a fatigued state.

It is time that the Federal Highway Administration and the state highway authorities double their efforts at these major problems. They need wider exposure through our mass media.

CANCER Answerline American Cancer Society

A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.

A woman in her 50's writes: "Recently I experienced vaginal bleeding although I am past the menopause. I went to my doctor reluctantly because I was afraid that I would have to be hospitalized for tests. Instead, a fairly simple test was done right in my doctor's office!"

ANSWERline: When abnormal bleeding occurs it is necessary to obtain a tissue sample from the uterus to study under a microscope to discover if cancer cells are present. Usually because of such bleeding, or other suggestions of possible uterine cancer, patients are hospitalized for a "D & C" — a dilation and curettage procedure, which means taking a scraping of the lining of the uterus. Today, however, for many women, it is possible to obtain tissue samples right in a doctor's office by using an instrument with suction techniques that are usually painless and well tolerated by the patient. Such tissue sampling is important for older women who are at higher risk of developing endometrial cancer (cancer of the uterine lining) and for women who are taking estrogens. Along with regular pelvic examinations, this test can help safeguard women against a form of cancer that is most curable when diagnosed in an early stage.

An insurance agent asks: "I have read that there is a new test for prostate cancer. Is this true?"

ANSWERline: Within the next six months 25 medical centers around the country will participate in a study of the usefulness of a new blood test technique developed at Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo. It may provide an effective way of detecting prostate cancer earlier when it is most amenable to treatment. The test represents a new way to analyze and measure an enzyme that has long been recognized as a biochemical marker for prostate cancer. In addition to being a diagnostic tool, this test may also prove valuable in following the results of prostate cancer treatment in individual patients. Since prostate cancer is the major cause of cancer death in older men, this test may prove of great importance. The nationwide study of its usefulness is being funded by the American Cancer Society.

A bartender asks: "Is there a relationship between alcohol and cancer?"

ANSWERline: Although the person who is a heavy drinker is at higher risk of developing cancer of the mouth or throat, voice box, and liver, the organ most directly affected is the esophagus, the tube that carries food down the throat into the stomach. The risk of developing cancer of the esophagus is about twenty-five times greater for heavy drinkers than non-drinkers. It is important to know that when a heavy drinker also is a heavy cigarette smoker, cancer risk is multiplied still more.

Whale-Killing Ban Could Make For Hard Winter On Eskimos

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — The Eskimos, who have survived 2,000 Arctic winters through subsistence hunting, could face tougher winters if a ban is upheld on killing the bowhead whale, which is on the endangered species lists.

"We may be on it ourselves soon," said one Eskimo.

The International Whaling Commission, meeting in June in Australia, unanimously approved a ban on killing — including subsistence hunting — of the bowhead, a slow-moving mammal whose head is almost a third of its length.

The state sharply limited the hunting of caribou, a large species of deer. The hunting of ducks and geese had been banned earlier.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration will hold two days of hearings here beginning Thursday on whether the United States should challenge the whaling ban. The federal government has until Oct. 1 to oppose the ban.

The price of food here suggests that dietary substitutes to whales and caribou would be expensive. Milk is $3 a half gallon; eggs $2 a dozen.

One bowhead whale can supply 40 to 50 tons of food and raw materials, enough to sustain a small village from one hunting season to the next.

Mike Jeffries, an Alaska Legal Services lawyer for the Eskimos, says "the whale cannot be replaced with food stamps. They plan festivals around it; their whole lives center around the hunt."

Some local businessmen say the Eskimos don't pay any attention to caribou restrictions, which bar all but subsistence hunting, and aren't likely to observe a ban on whales either.

Eben Hopson, an Eskimo and mayor of Barrow, says: "We are used to overcoming the physical obstacles while hunting the whale. We are resourceful enough to overcome human obstacles. Our people will not go hungry."

The bowhead, which stay close to drifting ice and occasionally use their brow to break through the ice for a breath, was protected from commercial hunting in 1946. The U.S. Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 and the U.S. Endangered Species Act of 1973 stopped all but subsistence hunting.

Eskimo crews took a dozen or so whales a year until the early 1970s when the annual average rose to 29. In the 1976 season, crews reportedly killed 48 whales while wounding but losing another 35. This spring they took 28 more.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR FRIDAY,

SEPTEMBER 9, 1977

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)
A pleasant surprise indicated — possibly the settlement of an outstanding obligation. Romance highlighted, too.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)
A splendid period in which to plan home improvements; also to give serious thought to a property deal.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
With your innate ingenuity, you will probably discover more than one novel way of meeting day's demands. Others are competing for identical goals. Push on!

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Stellar influences warn against indiscretion, unconventionality. Stress your innate conservatism — especially in dealings with the opposite sex.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
There may be a hitch in certain arrangements now — especially those involving travel. Be prepared to improvise.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
To be avoided: irrational moves, hasty conclusions, misjudgments through carelessness or prejudice. This won't be difficult if you display your usual foresight.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
An "iffy" sort of day, much depending on your initiative and good judgment. You have plenty of planetary backing to carry out worthwhile moves and plans, however.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Influences beneficent. Take advantage by pressing on toward lofty objectives. Job and financial interests especially favored.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Tip-top Jupiter influences foster more of the grit and ingenuity that won laurels for you in the past. This will be a good day for innovations.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Don't be tricked by the bizarre. Overactivity also unwise. A well-regulated day will bring achievement, stimulate incentive. Avoid obstinacy.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Some unusual activities indicated, but certain tedious matters will require attention nonetheless. Pep them up with one of those ingenious "twists" at which you are so adept.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
Some trends changing. Synchronize your activities to accommodate. Curb a tendency to become overly emotional in a relatively unimportant situation.

YOU BORN TODAY are always eager to be numbered among the front-runners in ambitious and worthwhile enterprises even though you may, at times, become dispirited over your life's work or your means. You usually rise above such moods, however, because you are not only ingenious and basically optimistic, but have that important "will to win." You have an affinity for science and may be especially attracted to electronics or physics; may do important research work in either field. You could succeed in the theater — as actor, producer, playwright or critic and, with your gift for writing, would make an excellent journalist. Other areas in which, properly trained, you could excel: teaching, painting, any occupation which involves travel. Birthdate of: Luigi Galvani, Ital. physicist; Leo Tolstoy, Russian author.

In 1975, a total of 1,466 deaths from boating accidents was reported by the U.S. Coast Guard. This includes 1,274 drownings and 192 deaths from other causes.

NOTICE OF REQUEST FOR HIGHWAY DESIGN APPROVAL

The Kentucky Department of Transportation, Bureau of Highways, is planning to proceed with the development of the proposed highway improvement on the Mayfield-Murray Road (KY 121), SP 18, 123-8L, BRF 121 (1), which consists of bridge replacement and approaches at West Fork of Clarks River.

The project has been declared a non-major Federal action and as such does not require the preparation of a formal environmental statement. Maps, plans and other relevant project data are available for public inspection at the District Office, located approximately five miles east of Paducah, Kentucky, on US 62-68.

Design Approval has been requested from the State Highway Engineer for this project.

Robert W. Hodges
District Engineer

Carter Faces Uphill Battle On Ratification Of Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration has Latin American backing for the new Panama Canal treaty, but the support of the American people and Congress is still in doubt.

After the colorful treaty-signing ceremony, attended by 27 visiting leaders, the spotlight is focusing on opponents of the pact.

Two long-time foes of relinquishing control of the waterway planned to argue their case today before the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on separation of powers: former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa.

With public opinion polls showing only minority support for the treaty, Carter faces an uphill fight in his bid to convince two-thirds of the Senate that the accord is in the national interest.

American officials say the President is expected to use three main arguments in his campaign for the treaty.

He is expected to stress the international support the treaty enjoys, a point amply demonstrated Wednesday night.

The 27 foreign leaders were at the Organization of American States headquarters to watch Carter and Panamanian head of government Omar Torrijos mark the formal end of 13 years of negotiation with the signing.

The officials said Carter will also seek support by campaigning against the present treaty, which dates from the turn of the century.

He told the OAS gathering, "That treaty, drafted in a world so different from ours, has become an obstacle to better relations with Latin America."

At a White House dinner for the visiting hemispheric dignitaries after the OAS ceremony, Carter noted that no Panamanian had read the 1903 treaty before it was signed.

The third point Carter will use in the coming weeks focuses on the provision in the treaty guaranteeing the United States the right to ensure canal neutrality even after Panama assumes control of the waterway at the end of this century.

Carter said the treaty marks "the commitment of the United States to the belief that fairness, not force, should lie at the heart of dealings with the nations of the world."

Torrijos said that while the old treaty was a "technical conquest," it also was a "colonial conquest."

"To be strong carries with it an obligation to be just," he said.

At the end of the 30-minute ceremony, Carter and Torrijos embraced warmly.

There were some dissenting voices to the signing. In Panama, demonstrators advocating an immediate takeover of the canal hurled stones and shouted slogans at the Foreign Ministry.

Carter Said Firm In Support Of Lance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is reported to be firm in his support of budget director Bert Lance as a Senate committee opens a full-scale inquiry into the former Georgia banker's financial dealings.

The Senate Governmental Affairs Committee began its investigation of Lance today, calling Comptroller of the Currency John G. Heimann as one of its first witnesses.

Lance is scheduled to appear before the Senate panel next week and it appeared certain the long-time friend of President Carter would resist mounting pressure for his resignation at least until he testifies.

Lance's lawyer, Clark Clifford, a former defense secretary and a Carter envoy in the Cyprus dispute, said Wednesday he expects his client and the President to "sit down and assess the entire situation and reach some conclusion."

Clifford said such a meeting would be held after Lance gets his "day in court" before the Senate committee, the same panel that recommended his confirmation to head the Office of Management and Budget.

On Wednesday, Heimann issued his second report on Lance's past financial affairs, again saying he found nothing illegal but noting he had referred some transactions to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. for "additional inquiry."

A spokesman for the corporation confirmed that it had received a letter from Heimann and said it "will do everything possible to cooperate with the comptroller."

Bringing the corporation into the investigation means that five federal agencies, as well as the Senate committee, are now looking into Lance's financial dealings.

Meanwhile, the Washington Post urged Lance to quit, saying in an editorial in today's editions: "Mr. Lance has now become an intolerable burden and distraction to a President who needs his full energies for larger purposes than defending the past record of an old friend. Mr. Lance can now perform only one useful service for the President, and that is to resign."

The New York Daily News said in an editorial in today's editions that Lance's usefulness as budget director has been "destroyed" and that, "If Lance won't resign gracefully, President Carter ought to pull the plug on his pal."

And The New York Times said in an editorial today that "For the President to ask for Mr. Lance's resignation is not, finally, to surrender to lynch-mob justice but to demonstrate an understanding and mastery of the rough-and-tumble of national politics. The most important issue is not Mr. Lance's probity as a banker but Mr. Carter's sagacity as a politician."

On Tuesday, the comptroller's office turned information about Lance's use of a Georgia bank's private aircraft over to the Justice Department, Federal Elections Commission and Internal Revenue Service for investigation.

There were reports Wednesday that many Carter administration executives had been aboard the bank-owned aircraft. Carter confidante Charles Kirbo was quoted as saying Lance always had seemed to have an airplane at his disposal and that he didn't know the plane was owned by Lance's bank.

The Los Angeles Times said in its editions today that the documents being studied by the Justice Department show that among those flying on Lance's National Bank of Georgia aircraft before they became part of the Carter administration were Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal and chief economic adviser Charles Schultz. Carter also was a passenger on the plane.

In Washington, some 2,000 demonstrators marched near the White House. Their target, however, was not the treaty but the presence of 11 military leaders from Latin America. They carried placards saying, "Carter's Human Rights Policy — Dinner with Fascists."

Tuition. . .

council's action might have done more harm than good by cutting funds out of the budget.

Tuition for out-of-state students rose to $1,200 this fall, while Kentuckians must pay $480.

Sen. Delbert Murphy, D-Owensboro, said it seemed as though the council was merely "switching dollars — and that the deficit was still being made up out of the taxpayer's pocket. Under the tuition waiver plan, Kentuckians would still have to subsidize expenses for out-of-state students, he said.

Snyder acknowledged that would be the case if the university were operating at full capacity, but said he wouldn't be able to determine the actual cost-benefit ratio until registration figures become available next week.

Murphy and Rep. Terry Mann, D-Newport, suggested that perhaps the unused dormitories could be converted to some other university use.

Rep. Allene Craddock, D-Elizabethtown, asked Snyder to find out how many of the non-Kentuckians registered at MSU were living in off-campus housing, but taking advantage of the tuition break.

Snyder was asked to report back to the committee at its next meeting Oct. 21.

In other action, the committee approved a 43-page report submitted by the educational statute review subcommittee. The committee voted to pre-file the subcommittee's recommendations for amending Kentucky statutes related to education.

Sen. David Karem, D-Louisville, said the recommended changes were mainly housekeeping measures aimed at weeding out laws that were no longer feasible, had been declared unconstitutional, or were outmoded.

The committee also passed a resolution requesting the Council on Higher Education to develop a program of grants-in-aid to medical students which would require them to serve a specified number of years in areas of the state with a shortage of physicians.

The resolution also asked the council to develop a system to ensure that an equitable number of students from each congressional district be admitted to Kentucky's two medical schools.

Campus. . .

issued last Wednesday barring the city of Murray from interfering with the construction of a pedestrian overpass at the intersection of 15th and Chestnut and the rerouting of Chestnut Street underneath the overpass.

The street was closed to allow contractors to proceed with the project but Mayor Scott and members of the Murray Police Department removed the barricades closing the street on August 26. Scott has contended that alternative routes were not provided to enable fire and police department personnel to reach the interior of the campus quickly in the event of an emergency.

The street was closed again last Thursday following the issuance of the restraining order by Circuit Court Judge James M. Lassiter. The order came as a result of a lawsuit filed by the Kentucky Department of Transportation.

Mayor Scott has also maintained that he does not feel the state has the right to close the street.

"If they (the highway department) can do it here, they can do it anywhere," Scott has said.

Mayor Scott has 20 days in which to respond to the restraining order.

New Blackbird Weapon Studied

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—A new weapon has been developed for use in the war on blackbirds, but it probably will be at least a year before Kentucky officials can add it to their arsenal.

The new material, developed by the Department of the Interior, is designed to kill blackbirds on contact, but it must pass field tests before it can be licensed for use, said Coburn Gayle, director of pest and noxious weed control for the state Agriculture Department.

That means that state officials once again will have to use the chemical deterrent PA-14 to try to eliminate some of the blackbird population. Gayle said the chemical isn't very effective, but it's the only legal tool available, so it will be used.

The chemical strips the birds' feathers of their protective coating so that they freeze when it rains.

Blackbirds are considered a menace to public health because their droppings may carry disease, and to farmers because they eat millions of dollars worth of grain.

Gayle said in an interview Wednesday that state officials had hoped Kentucky would be selected as a test site for the new material this year. However, the Interior Department shied away from selecting either Kentucky or Tennessee, possibly because the blackbird problem "seems to be too hot" in both states, Gayle said.

Federal officials probably knew that state officials would demand immediate use of the material if it proved effective in the field, he said.

Instead, it will be tested in some southern states, including Louisiana and Florida.

The product—a pesticide which doesn't have a name yet—could be ready for use about eight or nine months after field testing has been completed, Gayle said, possibly in time for next winter's skirmish with the blackbirds.

However, there could well be legal objections filed to use of the new agent—as there were over the use of PA-14—which could delay the date when the state might be able to use it.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

NATIONAL

BOSTON (AP) — Women who drink heavily are twice as likely to bear sickly, deformed babies as mothers who use liquor moderately or not at all, a new study shows. The findings in the study in today's New England Journal of Medicine are based on a review by Boston University doctors of the drinking habits of 633 pregnant women at Boston City Hospital.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Basing her campaign on "the right of everyone to know they will get a fair trial," attorney Moria Krueger defeated Dane County Judge Archie Simonson in a recall election sparked by his courtroom remarks on rape. Ms. Krueger, 33, parlayed outrage at Simonson's comments linking rape and women's revealing clothing into 27,244 votes and a 35 per cent plurality Wednesday. Six candidates were on the ballot in the first judicial recall election in Wisconsin history.

INTERNATIONAL

BONN, West Germany (AP) — The kidnapers of industry leader Hanns Martin Schleyer have threatened to execute him unless the search for him is halted, the West German government revealed today. The execution threat was contained in a ransom letter the government made public 24 hours after it failed to meet a deadline set by the kidnapers for the release of 11 jailed terrorists.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Diplomats in Nairobi see Ethiopia's break in diplomatic relations with Somalia as the prelude to a declaration of war or an effort to pressure the Kremlin into cutting off arms to the Somalis. A broadcast from Addis Ababa on Wednesday night said Ethiopia's ruling military council ordered Somali diplomats to leave the country within 48 hours.
